Author Index 1981

Agee, James K., Dean Clark, Rothwell P. Broyles, and Larry Rose.
Wilderness fire management at Pinnacles National Monument. 42(1):10-12.

Broyles, Paul.
An interagency cooperative effort. 42(1):3-4.

Clark, Bob, Allen A. Steuter, and C. M. Britton.
An inexpensive anemometer frame. 42(3):13-14.

Coval, Charles, and D. V. Schilling.
San Bernardino interface: Fourth of July fireworks safety program. 42(2):3-4.

Davis, Jim, and Ben Lyon.
A rational approach to evaluating fire control effectiveness. 42(1):7

Doolittle, Larry.
A training program in interpersonal communication. 42(3):15.

Gagen, Michael.
Mobile fire simulator. 42(4):15

Hansen, Donald T.
Thirty-ninth forest fire prevention campaign begins. 42(2):13-14.

Hirsch, Stanley, and David L. Radloff.
A method for making activity fuel management decisions. 42(3):5-9.

Huntley, Jimmy C.
Determining the role of fire in young upland hardwood stands. 42(4):8

Irwin, Bob.
FIRESCOPE. 42(4):11

Johansen, Ragnar W.
Windrows vs. small piles for forest debris disposal. 42(2):7-9.

Jukkala, Art.
Fire shelter and carrier redesigned. 42(4):9

Martin, George.
Student firefighters—a success story. 42(2):10-12.

Maupin, John.
Stage underburning in Ponderosa pine. 42(3):16-17.

McBride, Fred.
Fire management electronic age. 42(4):3

McKee, Robert R., and Richard Ramberg.
Gelled fuel saves gasoline in slash burning. 42(1):5-6.

Myles, George A.
Trends in rural fire prevention and control—expenditures, acres protected, and number of fires. 42(3):10-12. National Wildfire Coordinating Group—Qualification and certification working team. National interagency fire qualification system. 42(1):15-16.

Newell, Marvin.
FIRETIP. 42(3):3-4.

Parker, Mel, and Dan Bailey.
Community involvement in fire prevention—an effective tool for today's land manager. 42(1):17-18.

Putnam, Stuart E.
New, improved chain saw chaps. 42(2):23.

Simard, Albert J.
The Mack Lake fire. 42(2):5-6.

Taylor, Dale L., and Regina Rochefort.
Fire in the Big Cypress National Preserve, Florida. 42(2):15-18.

Wetherill, G. Richard.
A taxonomy for fire prevention programs. 42(1):13-14.

Wetherill, G. Richard.
Selecting fire prevention objectives: one aspect of effective program planning and evaluation. 42(4):6

Whitson, Jim.
A cost saving concept for an old problem in Florida. 42(4):14 ■

Author Index 1981

Agee, James K., Dean Clark, Rothwell P. Broyles, and Larry Rose.
Wilderness fire management at Pinnacles National Monument. 42(1):10-12.

Broyles, Paul.
An interagency cooperative effort. 42(1):3-4.

Clark, Bob, Allen A. Steuter, and C. M. Britton.
An inexpensive anemometer frame. 42(3):13-14.

Coval, Charles, and D. V. Schilling.
San Bernardino interface: Fourth of July fireworks safety program. 42(2):3-4.

Davis, Jim, and Ben Lyon.
A rational approach to evaluating fire control effectiveness. 42(1):7

Doolittle, Larry.
A training program in interpersonal communication. 42(3):15.

Gagen, Michael.
Mobile fire simulator. 42(4):15

Hansen, Donald T.
Thirty-ninth forest fire prevention campaign begins. 42(2):13-14.

Hirsch, Stanley, and David L. Radloff.
A method for making activity fuel management decisions. 42(3):5-9.

Huntley, Jimmy C.
Determining the role of fire in young upland hardwood stands. 42(4):8

Irwin, Bob.
FIRESCOPE. 42(4):11

Johansen, Ragnar W.
Windrows vs. small piles for forest debris disposal. 42(2):7-9.

Jukkala, Art.
Fire shelter and carrier redesigned. 42(4):9

Martin, George.
Student firefighters—a success story. 42(2):10-12.

Maupin, John.
Stage underburning in Ponderosa pine. 42(3):16-17.

McBride, Fred.
Fire management electronic age. 42(4):3

McKee, Robert R., and Richard Ramberg.
Gelled fuel saves gasoline in slash burning. 42(1):5-6.

Myles, George A.
Trends in rural fire prevention and control—expenditures, acres protected, and number of fires. 42(3):10-12. National Wildfire Coordinating Group—Qualification and certification working team. National interagency fire qualification system. 42(1):15-16.

Newell, Marvin.
FIRETIP. 42(3):3-4.

Parker, Mel, and Dan Bailey.
Community involvement in fire prevention—an effective tool for today's land manager. 42(1):17-18.

Putnam, Stuart E.
New, improved chain saw chaps. 42(2):23.

Simard, Albert J.
The Mack Lake fire. 42(2):5-6.

Taylor, Dale L., and Regina Rochefort.
Fire in the Big Cypress National Preserve, Florida. 42(2):15-18.

Wetherill, G. Richard.
A taxonomy for fire prevention programs. 42(1):13-14.

Wetherill, G. Richard.
Selecting fire prevention objectives: one aspect of effective program planning and evaluation. 42(4):6

Whitson, Jim.
A cost saving concept for an old problem in Florida. 42(4):14 ■

Subject Index 1981

Aviation

An interagency cooperative effort. 42(1):3-4.

Cooperation

An interagency cooperative effort. 42(1):3-4.
Community involvement in fire prevention—an effective tool for today's land manager. 42(1):17-18.
1980 Smokey Bear awards presented. 42(2):19-20.
1981 Smokey Bear awards. 42(4): 16.
Student firefighters—a success story. 42(2):10-12.
Thirty-ninth forest fire prevention campaign begins. 42(2):13-14.
Trends in rural fire prevention and control—expenditures, acres protected, and number of fires. 42(3):10-12.

Equipment

A cost saving concept for an old problem in Florida. 42(4):14.
An inexpensive anemometer frame. 42(3):13-14.
Fire management electronic age. 42(4):3.
Fire shelter and carrier redesigned. 42(4):9.
Mobile fire simulator. 42(4):15.
New fire hose dryer developed. 42(1):6.
New fuses container designed. 42(2):20.
New, improved chain saw chaps. 42(2):23.

Films and Publications

Recent fire publications. 42(1):19-20; 42(2):21-22; 42(3):18-19; 42(4):23.
Slide-Tape helps drivers. 42(1):14.

Fire Behavior

An inexpensive anemometer frame. 42(3):13-14.

Fuel Management

A method for making activity-fuel management decisions. 42(3):5-9.
Determining the role of fire in young upland hardwood stands. 42(4):8.
Fire in the Big Cyprus National Preserve, Florida. 42(2):15-18.
Gelled fuel saves gasoline in slash burning. 42(1):5-6.
Stage underburning in Ponderosa pine. 42(3):16-17.
Wilderness fire management at Pinnacles National monument. 42(1):10-12.
Windrows vs. small piles for forest debris disposal. 42(2):7-9.

General Fire Management

A rational approach to evaluating fire control effectiveness. 42(1):7-9.
Determining the role of fire in young upland hardwood stands. 42(4):8.
National interagency fire qualification system. 42(1):15-16.
The Mack Lake fire. 42(2):5-6.

Presuppression

A cost saving concept for an old problem in Florida. 42(4):14.
An interagency cooperative effort. 42(1):3-4.
FIRETIP. 42(3):3-4.
Selecting fire prevention objectives: one aspect of effective program planning and evaluation. 42(4):6.
Student firefighters—a success story. 42(2):10-12.
Windrows vs. small piles for forest debris disposal. 42(2):7-9.

Prevention

A taxonomy for fire prevention programs. 42(1):13-14.
A training program in interpersonal communications. 42(3):15.
Community involvement in fire prevention—an effective tool for today's land manager. 42(1):17-18.
San Bernardino interface: Fourth of July fireworks safety program. 42(2):3-4.
Selecting fire prevention objectives: one aspect of effective program planning and evaluation. 42(4):6.
1980 Smokey Bear awards presented. 42(2):19-20.
1981 Smokey Bear awards. 42(4):16.
Thirty-ninth forest fire prevention campaign begins. 42(2):13-14.
Trends in rural fire prevention and control—expenditures, acres protected, and number of fires. 42(3):10-12.

Safety

Cooperative Effort Improves Fire Shelter. 42(4):9.
New, improved chain saw chaps. 42(2):23.
San Bernardino interface: Fourth of July fireworks safety program. 42(2):3-4.

Suppression

A rational approach to evaluating fire control effectiveness. 42(1):7-9.
Fire in the Big Cypress National Preserve, Florida. 42(2):15-18.
The Mack Lake fire. 42(2):5-6.

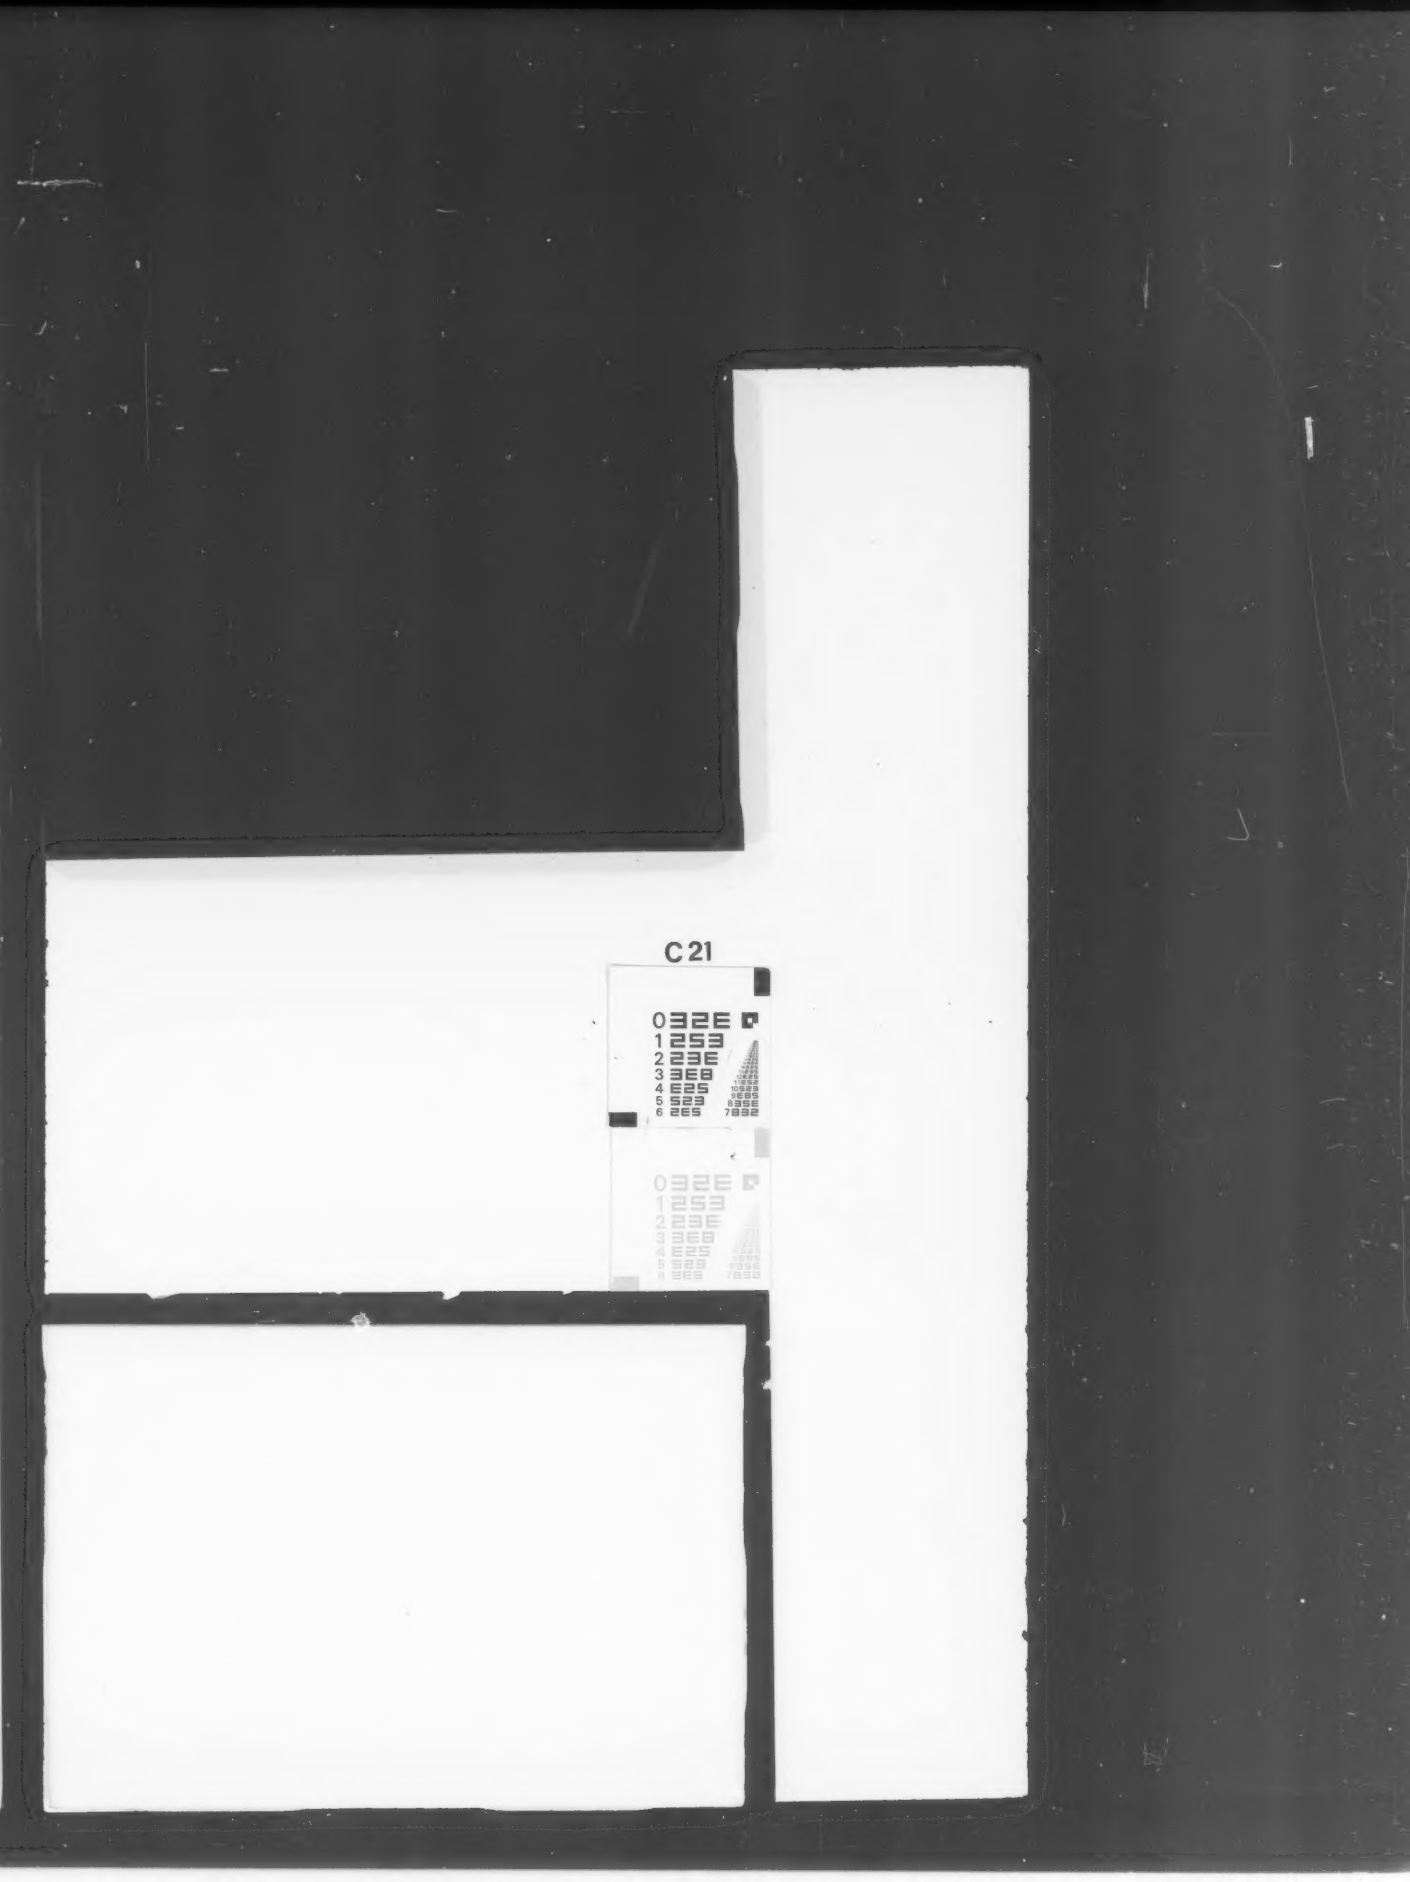
Systems

Fire management electronic age. 42(4):3.
FIRESCOPE. 42(4):11.
FIRETIP. 42(3):3-4.
National interagency fire qualification system. 42(1):15-16.

Training

A training program in interpersonal communication. 42(3):15.
Mobile fire simulator. 42(4):15.
Student firefighters—a success story. 42(2):10-12. ■

☆U.S. GOVERNMENT PRINTING OFFICE: 1982-360-914:202



C 21